

SECTION ONE (35 Marks)Short Answers - Answer all question in this section

1. Is there any indication in the Bible that one culture, race or group is superior to any other? What does Galatians 3:28 say to the person who believes that his group is superior to others?
2. Briefly distinguish
 - a. Lower criticism and Higher criticism
 - b. Contextualization and Indigenization
3. According to Grant Osborn the hermeneutical task has three levels. Name and describe the three levels.
4. How would you describe a perfect marriage from God's perspective? Give bible verses to support your answer.
5. Distinguish between interpretation and application.

SECTION TWO - (15 marks)Essay Questions – Answer any ONE question from this section

1. Discuss the necessity of contextualization. Why is it important to study it? How can we as Christians handle the gospel-culture clash without compromising our biblical convictions and without denying our culture?
2. From the hermeneutical perspective, it should be observed that a bridge exists between two horizons. (The text and interpreter) discuss four implications from the premise.

SECTION THREE (Marks 20)Essay Questions THIS QUESION

1. In Western eyes, African political leadership seems prone to certain abuses: centralization of power, mismanagement of resources for personal advantage, corruption, nepotism. The same problems seem to be recurrent in the church and theological colleges. To what extent is this valid criticism, and to what extent is it a matter of cultural bias? What stance does and should the Christian community adopt on the issue of leadership, both political and within the church?

SECTION FOUR (30 Marks)

Short Answers - Answer BOTH questions in this section

1. In preaching to the Athenians (Acts 17:16-32) Paul attempted to separate the Gospel message from contemporary philosophy. Paul safeguarded God's truth in his contextualized declaration. Discuss four points that may be deduced from Paul's preaching to the Athenians.
2. What have you learned in your study of Bibliology and Contextualization? How would you apply this to your life? How will you apply it in your ministry? Be specific.